April 15, May 20, and June 17 • 4–5 p.m. • Online via Zoom

“Is it possible to provision a voyaging canoe in this great day and age, when we have everything at our fingertips? If we can, it says a lot about us as a community! And if we can’t, it also says a lot about us as a community.”—Chadd Paishon

In June 2019, Makali‘i set her sails for Mokumanamana, provisioned for a 25-day voyage with foods grown, processed, and packaged by families, schools, and the community of Moku o Keawe.

Join Chadd Paishon, Pomai Bertelmann, and Makali‘i ‘ohana on this journey as they share the outcome of a few chosen kūpuna mea ‘ai and the process used to feed Makali‘i’s crew on this epic voyage.

“If you can feed one canoe with foods grown, harvested, and packaged on our island, then we can feed our community.”—Pomai Bertelmann

There is no cost to enroll, but space is limited.
